

DON'T IMPEDE YOUR SPEED. GET READY FOR DEVOPS

Demand for apps is high¹

But delivery is lagging¹

65%

of companies surveyed have 10 or more apps planned for delivery in 2019

59%

say it takes 3 - 6 months to deliver a new web app

42%

of companies with more than 10,000 employees plan to develop 50 or more apps in 2019

4%

release new software versions daily

45%

of large companies say they have 1 - 10 projects in backlog

17%

release new software versions weekly

Meet the need for speed¹

31% use DevOps or SecDevOps to increase delivery speed

55% use cloud to speed up application delivery

PROFILE OF AN ELITE PERFORMER

- Lead time for changes less than one day
- Time to restore service less than one hour
- Deploys on demand (multiple deployments daily)
- Change failure rate 0-15%

At 20% of the survey population, elite performers, compared to low performers, have:

208X

more frequent code deployments.

106X

faster lead time from commit to deploy.

2,604X

faster to recover from incidents.

7X

lower change failure rate.

DEVOPS IS A TEAM SPORT

DevOps success depends on a culture of cooperation, with common goals, incentives, and measures that bridge the gap between Ops and Dev. Getting there requires commitment from leadership and a willingness to remove barriers to true teamwork. The payoff? Speed to market with competitive advantage, and a better quality of life for all.

DevOps tooling differentiates²

Highest-performing engineers are 1.5X more likely to have easy-to-use tools

63% of elite performers use open source and commercial off-the-shelf (COTS) software

96% of elite performers use automation in their toolchains
